THE NEW KID, BEN

This is a story about a new student, Ben. Ben moved to our town last week. He felt a little shy on his first day at Green Primary School. During playtime, he sat alone under a big tree. My friends, Hoa and Duc, and I saw him. We talked about it. Hoa said, 'He looks lonely. We should invite him to play.' Duc agreed, 'Yes, being new can be hard.'

So, we walked over to Ben. I smiled and said, 'Hi, Ben! My name is Mai. Do you want to play soccer with us?' Ben looked up, surprised. He smiled back and said, 'Yes, please!' He was a bit quiet at first, but he tried his best to play. He wasn't very good at soccer, but he was very brave because he kept trying. We didn't care if he was perfect; we just wanted him to feel welcome. After playing, we sat and talked. Ben told us about his old school and his favorite games. We learned that he is very honest and also very funny! Now, Ben is not shy anymore. He plays with us every day. We are happy because we have a new friend, and Ben is happy because he has new friends. What Time Is It?

1

Nam: Zzzzz... (sleepy)

A boy, Nam, is in bed with his eyes closed. An alarm clock on his bedside table shows 6:00 AM.

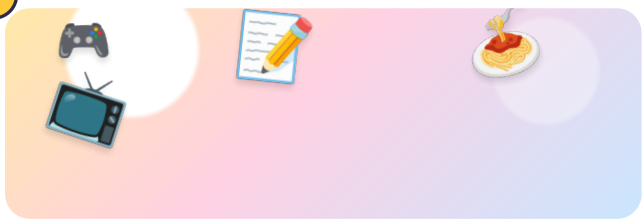

2

Mom: Nam, wake up! It's 6 o'clock. Time for school!

Nam's mom is standing by his bed, smiling. Nam is still in bed, rubbing his eyes. The clock still shows 6:00 AM.

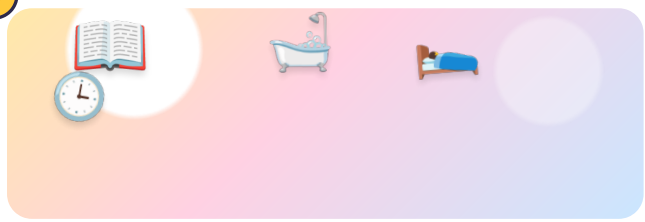

3

Nam: 6 o'clock? But Mom, the sun is going down! It's night!

Nam is now out of bed, looking confused at the clock. The clock now clearly shows 6:00 PM (the hands are pointing correctly, but the sun is setting outside the window).

4

Mom: Oh, Nam! This old clock is broken! It shows PM, not AM! Look at my new clock! It's morning!

Mom is laughing, holding a new clock. Nam looks surprised. The old clock is still showing 6:00 PM. The new clock shows 6:00 AM with a bright sun.
